

After I Read...

I try to retell the important parts in my head.

I read over the question and answers I wrote to see if they make sense.

I reread parts I didn't understand.

I ask for help with words I didn't understand.

I reread parts I liked.

I think about how what I just read will change the way I think about certain things.

The strategies that help me the most are:
